

New light on human evolution

February 19, 2016

Fossil Gorilla and Africa: Humans Likely Evolved Earlier Than Thought, Researchers Say

Scientists recently unearthed 8 million-year-old gorilla fossils from the Chorora Formation in Ethiopia, which indicate the human evolutionary split took place 10 million years ago. Although it is still not clear when exactly human and gorilla lineages diverged, the recent find provides yet another theory that the split from our ancient ancestors happened earlier than thought.

Read the full story at Nature World News.

By Samantha Mathewson

Feb 17, 2016 02:55 PM EST

Los Alamos National Laboratory

www.lanl.gov

(505) 667-7000

Los Alamos, NM

Operated by Los Alamos National Security, LLC for the Department of Energy's NNSA

